LUNCHEON HEARS TALK)
ON MID-EAST AFFAIRS)
BY RELIGIOUS WRITERS)

A discussion of the Middle East problem was heard by more than 100 members and guests at the OPC luncheon last Thursday.

Three religious editors -- a Jew, a Catholic and a Protestant -- just returned from a study of the tensions there, painted a vivid picture of conditions which, they agreed, were virtually unknown to the people of the United States. There was complete unanimity among them on all vital points. Highlights follow:

John Cogley, executive editor, The Commonweal: "We can't have universal popularity and still have a lot of people dependent on us...Anti-Americanism in the Middle East is almost universal despite no history there of American imperialism...This is not a political question but one charged with emotion. The plight of 890,000 refugees has tremendous influence on the thinking of all Arab people. If your family lived on land for 1,000 years or more and was pushed off that land and now lived in a tent, you could understand the feeling in Arab countries. This is a human problem--anybody, any Arab can understand it..When we visited the scene of the Kibya massacre the mayor of the village told me, as he looked around the ruins, 'I want you to know we hold the U.S. responsible for this'..."

Harold Fey, executive editor, Christian Century: "In the Middle East, it is the waiting war. This is an effective blockade and boycott with which the Arab countries hope to strangle Israel. This is the inescapable fact of the situation in the Middle East...of the Kibya Massacre and the whole tension...It could not have happened if we, the United States, had not pressured the UN into forcing partition on the Middle East.. The waiting war is vitally affecting U.S. policy. The U.S. says that Arab hostility is blocking a pact with the Arab states. We are therefore forced into taking second-best arrangements such as a military pact with Pakistan...The persistence of the UN is the biggest factor that keeps the waiting war from being a shooting war." (Mr. Fey recommended the policy of a "little Israel", recognizing that the state had reached the limit of expansion and that Israel should yield land taken illegally, which would amount to about one-fourth of the entire estate.)

Dr. Morris Lazaron, board of editors, Jewish Newsletter: "U.S. people have been given a one-sided and distorted, pro-Israel picture of the situation. The U.S. cannot look at Israel alone, or the Arab states alone, but let's look at the area as a whole, for Israel is in the Middle East and must be part of the Middle East." He summarized Israel's position as, "We are going to stay here even if we perish." Dr. Lazaron recommended that Israel should immediately restore its Arab-Christian population (about 12 per cent) to first-class citizenship and repatriate 100,000 refugees who could now be settled in Israel with no difficulty to the economy. "Israel," he said, "must have peace. Without peace, Israel will be a subsidized state and no subsidized state can endure."

Questions from the floor included remarks by DOROTHY THOMPSON who proposed that the UN establish a bank where refugees could obtain cash on their Palestine holdings, for which she said they must eventually be paid, in order that they may help in their own reestablishment. (Story handled by DICKSON HARTWELL).

Among the Club Members attending the meeting were N.F. ALLMAN, HUGH BOYD, RUTH LLOYD and JOHN BROGAN, JR. ... LARRY BLOCHMAN, SVEN-ERIK BERGH, CHARLES CAMPBELL, Jr., DICKIE and TONY CHAPELLE and BOB DEMME ... Also Coronet senior editor GEROLD FRANK, Parade editor JESS GORKIN, and free-lancer PHIL GUSTAFSON ... Likewise noted: Publisher KENNETH S. GINIGER, TOM JOHNSON ... Newsweek's CHARLES KINSOLVING, LARRY LOWENSTEIN, JOSA RUFFNER, ... Time's FRANK SHEA, JOSEPH WILLICOMBE of King Features ... H.W.G. WOODHEAD, HARRY ZINDER and WILLIAM ZUCKERMAN ...

Coal-Fuel of The Future

Without coal a great modern city is a helpless cripple. Heat. Lights. Refrigeration. Transportation. Elevators. Signal systems. Telephone. Industry. All these depend on coal.

One modern city came near such paralysis. That was Berlin in 1948 when the Russians thought to strangle it into submission. Of all the cargo flown into Berlin, 64% was coal. Nearly 1,500,000 tons. Enough to fill 30,000 big, hopper coal cars. That coal was like new blood in a dying man's veins.

We don't fly much coal here in America—occasionally to an arctic defense base or a bag dropped to a storm-isolated farm house. Coal is something we have always taken for granted. There's plenty to last a thousand—maybe two thousand years. It is widely distributed; and the great coal-hauling railroads like the C & O are equipped to move it rapidly.

For instance, the C&O has invested many millions of dollars in coal cars; in great coal-handling docks at Newport News and Toledo to facilitate water shipments to world and Great Lakes markets. Coal is one natural resource you don't need to worry about. It is the one fuel that will always be plentiful.

The Bulletin nearly went to press minus page six this week. . .The first five pages were stitched together by hard-pressed Executive Editor BOB DUNNE who used the reception desk of Stamford's St. Joseph's Hospital as a city room...Wife Marjorie gave birth to a third son at 3 a.m. Thursday--printer's deadline day. . .BOB got the baby wrapped up in the wee hours but the strain of third-time papa-ing was too much to execute all the Bulletin labor. . .Former editor RUTH LLOYD dropped into the club rooms just as the printer's devil was making off with five full and one blank pages. . "You can't do that to the members!" says LLOYD. "Babies get born every day but the Bulletin arrives overseas but once a week!"

LLOYD filled in the final page with all due respect for the old news rule that you never miss a deadline! Getting the Bulletin to press every week is a chore that strains the sinews of the hard-working volunteer editors—as both MARY HORNADAY and RUTH LLOYD discovered during their year's joint tenure of the Overseas Press Club's publication. The strain might be eased if a functioning Bulletin Committee took over the task of editing the weekly news exchange and distributed the labors over a wider area for a newsman's paper with less individual strain... (RALPH MAJOR, Editor, was called out of town on business with no advance notice but anyone of several ex-newshounds are usually within shouting distance any time the Bulletin is in distress...)
